If you have multiple appendices (e.g. References Cited and at least one Appendix) add this divider page before references.

If your ETD does not include more than one appendix, you do not need this divider page; put references title in all caps at the top of your first references page

REFERENCES CITED

Start references on the first line of the page. If you do not need a divider page, your REFERENCES CITED title would sit on the top line of the page.

All references should be single spaced with a double space between references. You choose your discipline's reference style.

References should precede appendices unless appendix material is included in the references section.
